EDITORIAL

"Opportunities don't happen. We create them."

Here at AISSMS COP, we believe in creating opportunities and taking up new challenges to move forward in life with zeal. With such enthusiasm and zeal, AISSMS COP participated in 'National Pharmacy Week 2018' (NPW)! With such phenomenal start to the new academic year, more achievements are certain to take place!

With the motto of nations safety, security and development NSS team organized the Nirmal Wari Abhiyan in which they responsibly helped pilgrims during various stages of journey of the wari (annual pilgrimage) from Alandi to Pandharpur.

To encourage students to take up new challenges a career guidance and personality development lecture was organised. New batch of students were given hands on training on instruments. With continuous step towards improvement and quality we faced inspection by NAAC team.

After all, we create opportunities everyday with our enthusiasm for life as we just do not wait for circumstances to be ideal and gain experiences which leads us towards growth.

Accompanied by such aspirations and inertia we bring you this new issue of Pharmavoice to resuscitate another incredible year at our college!

- Act as a resource to share the knowledge database with regards to regulatory requirements with the colleagues from departments across organization such as R&D, Analytical, Process Development, Manufacturing, Quality Control, Quality Assurance, Clinical, and Sales & Marketing.

He completed his high school education (5 to 10th standard) from a very well-known boarding school dedicated for the bright students from the rural-area to provide them all-round education, “Shasakiya Vidya Niketan, Aurangabad”. He did his Bachelor of Pharmacy from Y B Chavan College of Pharmacy, Aurangabad and Master of Pharmacy (Pharmaceutical Chemistry) from Poona College of Pharmacy, Pune.

How did you break into the field you are in today?

After my post-graduation in 1996, I came across an opening for Regulatory Affairs in Wockhardt Limited, Aurangabad. I approached for it and was selected. At that time, no real awareness about the Regulatory Affairs function was existing. However, I was only aware that the “Regulatory Affairs” function was related to the drug product. And of course, it proved to be just a tip of ice-berg later.

What are the most interesting and/or current developments in your field?

The field of Regulatory Affairs is a very dynamic field and is continuously changing. This itself makes the field very interesting to me. However, if I must name few most interesting/current developments in this field, then I may consider the following:

- Increased Scrutiny of the Applications and

Manufacturing and Focus on Compliance

- Increased Generic Competition and Pressure on Pricing due to Consolidation of Large Pharmacy Chains
- Biosimilars
- Emerging Markets

Given the current circumstances, what do you feel about pursuing higher studies in the Healthcare field in a foreign country i.e. USA, Canada etc.?

In my opinion, this is purely an individual choice. If one as a student can make the most out of the pharmacy curriculum that we have with the help of the teachers with a true “applied science” mindset, our pharmacy course can be adequate for a student to make a good career in pharmaceutical industry.

What kind of opportunities does the Indian market promise as compared to foreign markets e.g. North America/Europe?

Indian Market has already emerged as one of the Top 5 emerging markets in the world. In view of the growing competition in U.S. and challenges associated with compliance, the Indian Market is going to be an interesting market to eye for.

Do you believe it is a good time to start up on your own- here in India? Or do you suggest the job security of a conventional 9-5 job?

Again, this is an individual choice and must be dealt with accordingly. However, it may be considered a good time to start up on your own if you have a potential and business strategy.

What do you see lacking in young recruits today? What improvements would you suggest?

First, the good thing. The recruits today have the potential and the energy. They are also very tech-savvy. With these assets, they can do wonders.

However, there is scope of improvement in the areas of Hard Work, Sincerity and Loyalty. In my limited experience, I have learnt that there are no other alternatives to these age-old qualities even in today’s world.

We would love to hear what you think about the Pharmacy course in India. Kindly express your views.

I think the pharmacy courses in India are good and more industry oriented.

However, a little more emphasis on the applied part of it in true sense, giving the students the exposure to practical situations and challenging their capabilities may help them in future.

What is your message to young graduates/postgraduates in Pharmacy...

I am absolutely no one to give any “message” to students. However, I can just share my thoughts. I think the young graduate/postgraduates in pharmacy have a huge potential. They just need to make the most out of it. They should nurture the question everything- Why? How can? If they can inculcate to challenge the things and start asking questions to themselves to get convinced on whatever they learn and develop a habit of rationale thinking, in my opinion, it should help them.

Is there anything else you would like to share with us?

I would like to pay my respect to the most-noble profession- Teaching. The teachers can build the nation, through the students they create.

Thanks for giving me an opportunity to share my thoughts.

Life grants nothing to us mortals without hard work.
